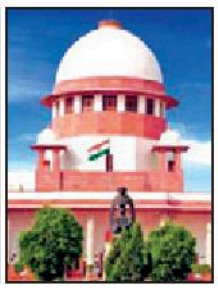
Ayodhya Dispute Case

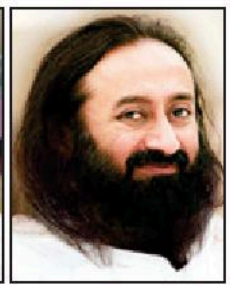
SC forms three-member Mediation Panel

CJI Ranjan Gogoi



Supreme Court

Justice F.M. Kalifulla



Ravi Shankar Guruji

Sriram Panchu

New Delhi, Mar.8- The Supreme Court (SC) today gave its judgement, ordering a formal mediation in the Ayodhya case, as a roadmap to amicably settle the 60-year-old Ram Janmabhoomi-Babri Masjid dispute.

A Five-Judge Bench led by Chief Justice of India (CJI) Ranjan Gogoi said the case was not about property, but about "mind, heart and healing, if possible." While the Supreme Court is in favour of mediation in the case, most parties involved do not approve of mediation.

The Supreme Court has formed a three-member panel to meet all the petitioners in the Ayodhya dispute case. The Three-Member Mediation Committee will include former SC Judge Justice F.M. Ibrahim Kalifulla, 68; senior advocate Sriram Panchu, 69 and Sri Ravi Shankar Guruji, 62. Justice Kalifulla would be the Chairperson of the Committee. The mediators can induct more members in the Committee, the Apex Court said. The Panel is likely to complete the mediation process in a period of eight weeks.

"Mediation will take place. We don't see any legal obstruction to it," said Chief Justice Ranjan Gogoi while delivering the order. "Mediation proceedings will remain confidential. There would be no reporting in any media," he added.

During the last hearing on Wednesday, most of the Hindu petitioners, the Uttar Pradesh Government and the Consul of "Ram Lalla", the deity infant Lord Ram, had shown reluctance towards mediation. The Sunni Waqf Board, ready to give mediation a shot, is concerned about privacy during negotiations. The Nirmohi Akhara, another petitioner in the case, has also agreed for mediation.

The Constitution Bench, which is hearing the case, said mediation may help in "healing relations." Even if there is "one per cent chance" of settling the dispute amicably, the parties should go for mediation, the Bench had said.

Two years ago, the Court had suggested that the two sides explore the possibility of resolving the matter through negotiation. The Court even said it was ready to mediate if they agreed. But negotiations did not take off as all sides involved said they wanted the Court to take a call.

Creating a Hampi in Mysuru

The pace of life and ways of residents in urban spaces across the country seem to have left the senior citizens stranded and dazed. The gen next has neither the frame of mind nor time to bestow attention to their elderly, euphemistic identity of the oldies. The scenario of that change that is hard to miss in Mysuru itself triggers myriad thoughts about preserving the city's time-honoured, but-now-fractured image as a heritage city alongside the world famous Hampi, which is in ruins, with the difference that the city's exalted image is resting in the pages of its history, with its relics, particularly, the modest dwellings in an ambience of tranquillity, all gone for now. Mercifully, the old names of the few such regions across the city such as Sunnadakeri, Halladakeri, Ravabeedi, Bandikeri, Ittigegud, Nanjumalige, Doddapete and so on still linger in the fraternity of Mysuru's old-timers. These hallmarks of Mysuru of yesteryears are sure to vanish without trace and may not find a place in the pages of the city's chronicles, unlike the mention of the glory of Vijayanagar Kingdom, which sounds like fiction.

But for the enduring quality of construction that has stood the vagaries of nature over several centuries, hundreds of temples that are places of worship even to this day, they also would have faced the fate of Hampi ruins, which are speechless testimony to the refinement that the land's people of long past brought to bear. The old charm of Mysuru, however, may not mean anything to the young of our days.

Mysuru has already witnessed the disappearance of edifices that individually and collectively served to define its image, variously described by the literati, notably as the pensioner's paradise, a description that no longer is valid. Given the current developments of some aged structures crumbling, the city may also not befit its description as a heritage city in foreseeable future. The city's senior citizens are sure to be ridiculed if they express their desire to sustain its image as they witnessed in their younger days, several decades ago. But, the factors that cause the drastic changes in the city's skyline seem to be so overwhelming that neither the administration nor the senior citizens can arrest the goings on.

Despite the aforementioned realities of Mysuru's old features becoming history, one may be permitted to suggest preserving at least some parts of its areas as they existed until about a few decades ago. If done, visitors to the city are sure to savour the richness of culture that defined the ways of life in slow pace. Delaying action on this sensitive project may not help in expediting it for all times ahead.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Only when we are away from our homeland do we realise how insignificant (and often irritating) yet intimate sounds, smells and sights of life make our days lively. Be it a celebration or mishap, call it interference or concern, we deem it a duty to be a part of the society we live in. We love to surround ourselves with resultant noise, activity and sensations which is a psychological boost for us to plunge ourselves in. One cannot forget to mention the door-to-door vendors pushing carts, trudging miles on their daily rounds of localities, which is a unique feature of our country. There may be some black sheep among them, yet for the sick, old, house-bound home-makers who are turned away by the long queues in supermarkets and haven't yet adapted to shopping online, these vendors help keep their kitchen fires burning. — Snehlatha Baliga in Deccan Herald.

Man falls asleep with earphones on, wakes up deaf

Taiwan: A student who used to fall asleep while listening to music with earphones on, woke up completely deaf in one year.

The popularity of headphones and earphones has skyrocketed right alongside that of smartphones, with people using them either to listen to music, take phone calls or even study. Some people reportedly use them while sleeping to learn foreign languages subconsciously. Even though "hypnopedia", or the ability to learn during sleep, isn't supported by any scientific evidence, many people still believe that because the brain is able to perceive sound during sleep, by exposing it to new information will cause it to retain at least some of it. But apparently, testing this concept, or even listening to music with earphones or headphones on while sleeping is not wise.

Fat rat rescued after it got stuck in manhole cover

Bensheim: A fat cat which got stuck in a manhole cover at Bensheim in Germany was rescued by the local fire department. The rescue photos viral after after the non-profit animal rescue group Berufstierrettung Rhein Neckarwent posted images of the misfortunate animal on social media.

The animal rescue group learned about the stuck rat after a young girl noticed the creature in distress. Animal rescuer Michael Sehr first attempted to free the rat himself, but ended up having to call the local fire department for backup. Together, they were able to lift up the cover and free the rat. "Even animals that are hated by many deserve respect," Michael Sehr said and added that he was prepared to answer anyone who criticised the rescue..

Sneeze droplets can be expelled from your nose and mouth at the rate of 10 to 40 MPH (16 to 64 kph). Once airborne, they can travel around the room, being carried by little eddies of air, settling on the floor and furniture, ready for an unsuspecting passer-by.

Make Kukkarahalli Lake entrance user-friendly

Sir,

It is observed since many months that motorists are quarrelling over vehicle parking issue at the entrance of Kukkarahalli Lake (behind Kalamandira) which is very narrow. To resolve this issue, I request the authorities concerned to widen the gate space for incoming and outgoing motorists; earmark parking slots for two-wheelers, four-wheelers and autos separately. Even the visitors must properly follow the traffic rules instead of inconveniencing the fellow motorists.

On behalf of the large number of motorists and visitors, I request those concerned to make user-friendly facilities at the Lake entrance.

MCC moots 'Green Wedding' concept to stop usage of plastic materials

Mysuru, Mar. 8 (RK,YDS&KS)- In a bid to stop usage of plastic materials and reduce plastic waste generation at Kalyana Mantaps, the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) has mooted 'Green Weddings' concept in city.

Addressing a press conference at MCC premises yesterday, MCC Commissioner Shilpa Nag said that each wedding generates about 150 tonnes of waste including plastic bottles, plastic glasses, cups, plates, plastic sheets which are put on dining tables, gift wrappers and also leftover food. She said that the generation of plastic waste could be avoided if plantain leaves, paper sheets, paper plates, glasses, cups, cloth bags and other eco-friendly products are used.

Shilpa Nag said that Shyamala Satish, a Bengaluru-based expert, would be the consultant and added that the MCC staff and Corporators would guide and help the families to conduct 'green weddings'. "Those interested can call the MCC helpline: 0821-2418800 for assistance. A link will be provided to the 'Green Wedding' concept on the MCC's portal shortly. If all aspects of the particular wedding match the guidelines, a 'Green Wedding' certificate will be issued to the couple," she said.

Shilpa Nag said that there were 140 apartment complexes which produce more than 100 kg of waste every day and added that some apartment complexes have composting units in their premises. A deadline will be issued to the rest to treat their garbage; she said and added that action would be initiated against them if they do not comply.

The Commissioner said that the MCC would be promoting 'Green Shops' concept to recycle waste and to reduce generation of waste. Plastic bottle compressor units would be placed at public places so that compressed bottles could be made into plastic pellets, which can be turned into various products like textile fabrics, she added.

Children's Parliament held in city

Mysuru, Mar.8 (PM&DM)- In a unique programme aimed at addressing school issues, the District Legal Services Authority (DLSA), in association with the District Administration, the Department of Public Instruction (DPI) and Grassroots Research and Advocacy Movement (GRAAM) had organised a Children's Parliament at ZP Hall here yesterday.

Although the event was not a 'Parliament' in its true sense, it was appropriately transformed into a State Cabinet, with elected students functioning as CM, Speaker and Ministers.

Soon as the event began, Roopa, a student of Udbur High School, was unanimously elected as the Speaker, following which the 'House' observed a one-minute silence on the 'direction' of Roopa as a mark of respect to late Siddaganga Mutt Seer Dr. Sri Shivakumara Swamiji, who passed away in January and CRPF Jawans martyred in the recent Pulwama attack.

The 'House' had 'Ministers' such as Education Minister, Finance Minister and Sports Minister with elected students donning the roles.

As the 'Parliament' went on, students from different schools came with a whole range of problems faced by them, which included lack of play grounds, lack of civic amenities and the like.

Yogitha of Udbur School functioned as the 'Chief Minister' while Lakshmi of Koorgalli School functioned as 'Education Minister' and a girl student from another school as Sports Minister.

After the children came up with problems related to their respective schools, the same were forwarded to concerned officials, who in turn gave clarifications or came up with solutions on the spot, while some other issues which are to be addressed by higher officials, were submitted to the DLSA, which in turn will forward them to the authorities concerned for redressal.

About 120 children from nine Government Schools of the district (nine Higher Primary and two High Schools) took part in this Children's Parliament, which had only 'Ministers' and no Opposition members.

Earlier, Principal District and Sessions Court Judge S.K. Vantigodi inaugurated the programme by lighting the lamp.

ZP CEO K. Jyothi, speaking on the occasion, said that this event apart from educating the children on how to come up with their issues and discuss them in an appropriate manner, also aimed at sensitising the children on how to make senior members of their family vote in the elections without fail, with the Lok Sabha polls round the corner.

Pointing out that the Election Commission of India too is keen on involving teenaged children in awareness programmes on the importance of voting, she said that such programmes will be of great help in enhancing poll percentage, focussing on compulsory and moral voting.

Senior Civil Judge and DLSA Member-Secretary B.P. Devamaane presided.

GRAAM Executive Director R. Basavaraj delivered the keynote address. Additional DC Anuradha, ASP Sneha, DDPI Panduranga, Women and Child Welfare Deputy Director K. Padma, DHO Dr. B. Basavaraj, Taluk BEO Krishna, Senior Assistant Director of Horticulture Dinesh Kumar and other officials were present.

'Revoke Article 370 to protect India from divisive forces'

Mysuru, Mar. 8 (RKB&BCT)- Experts, former intelligence wing heads and writers have appealed the Government to revoke Article 370 of the Indian Constitution for ensuring that there are no more cruel attacks on the country's security forces. Article 370 of the Constitution provides autonomous status to the State of Jammu and Kashmir.

"Let the country see which (political) party supports this and which doesn't. We have to draw the line right here. We have to now make sure that the world knows they can't mess with us. India cannot be threatened and we should not allow divisive forces to misuse Article 370. We move decisively when anyone attack us in any way," they said, airing their opinion.

They were speaking at an interaction on 'Article 370 — Raddati Ayamagalu Mathu Paramarshe', organised by Mysuru District Journalists Association (MDJA), Rajya Shaikshanika Diksuchi Mathu Sudharana Samithi and Constitution Department of Sheshadripuram Degree College in city on Wednesday.

Retired Deputy Commissioner of RAW Mohan Subbaiah seen inaugurating the interaction programme on Article 370 in city on Wednesday by watering a plant as RAW ex-officer David, President of Rajya Shaikshanika Diksuchi Mathu Sudharana Samithi Dr. Sudhakar Hosahalli, Kendra Sahitya Academy Member Addanda C. Cariappa, MDJA President C.K. Mahendra and MDJA General Secretary K.J. Lokesh Babu look on.

"Article 370 has brought no good to the common people and has encouraged the anti-national sentiment in the people and it has hampered the industrial development in Jammu and Kashmir. Moreover, the provisions of Article 370 have been misused by Pakistan-sponsored terrorists and Indian security forces have been made a scapegoat," experts felt.

Speaking at the interaction, Mohan Subbaiah, retired Deputy Commissioner of Research and Analysis Wing (RAW), said that RAW played a major role in the recent Balakot air-strike, by identifying the targets though it was challenging and needed extreme precision.

"RAW is a foreign intelligence agency of the Union Government and it mainly gathers intelligence from various countries regarding national interest. The agency targets and extensively covers Pakistan intelligence," he said.

RAW basically caters to the requirements of the Government on the assigned task and gather information on defence, military intelligence, terrorism and economic intelligence. RAW obtains information through various means, he said.

He too opined that Article 370 should be abolished because India is facing various problems.

President of Rajya Shaikshanika Diksuchi Mathu Sudharana Samithi Sudhakar Hosahalli said that Article 370 can be abolished with a simple amendment. "The separate status is given to Jammu and Kashmir on a temporary amendment. So, Article 370 can be cancelled any time. Article 370 should be abolished to protect the unity of India. We have a federal form of Government, but there is no federal Constitution. Hence it can be abolished," he said.

Replying to queries on the Pulwama attack, David, another RAW Officer said, "Intelligence gathering will not be a success always. There will be an intelligence failure also. Even the world's best intelligence agencies have failed. RAW has done several good intelligence gathering works. Pulwama attack was an intelligence failure."

Speaking on Jammu and Kashmir, David said the food habits, culture and race of Jammu, Kashmir and Ladakh are completely different. The trouble in Kashmir is just a portion of the State. He said that the Government has made several attempts to bring down trouble in the Valley, but it could not eliminate separatism, as there are sympathisers for the terrorists on the basis of faith.

Senior Advocate O. Sham Bhat and Kendra Sahitya Academy Member Addanda C. Cariappa also interacted with students and answered their queries.

By Dr. K. Javeed Nayeem, MD

Un-Welcome back to Un-Swachh Mysuru !

The rather amusing but certainly shameful drama of decking up Mysuru to qualify for the top place among the cleanest cities of the country has just ended. And, it has ended so dramatically too — all the garbage heaps at our street corners are steadily and happily growing back to their original dimensions, all the roadside stalls and pavement vendors that had vanished overnight are back once again in their usual but un-rightful places where they can not only successfully ply their trades but also successfully impede the free movement of people and their vehicles.

Actually I realised that the Swachh Mysuru movement had taken off when I went looking for my fruit vendor and found him missing from his usual place on three consecutive days. This was something that would never happen, come rain or shine. That was how permanently his cart was welded to his preferred place despite having four wheels !

All the roadside eateries that had simply vanished with a wave of the Policeman's baton three weeks ago have now returned to the places from where they used to assuage the hunger of road-users which once included the poorest of the poor but which now also include the richest of the rich. Yes, the latter too no longer feel shy of being seen near roadside eateries some of which are reputed to be capable of putting the best high-end restaurants to shame when it comes to taste. That is why you find high-end Mercs, BMWs and Audis regularly parked at our so-called 'food streets' these days.

It is a different matter that when people rave of what roadside food can do their taste buds they always make it a point to remain mum on what they observe by way of hygiene and cleanliness. These two issues therefore never get to be discussed at the same time. This tact is also one of the essential tenets of the art of fine dining !

But you should listen or rather eavesdrop on such conversations. You'll find people literally slurping and drooling and making all kinds of funny sounds as they talk of what they had eaten the previous week ! That is how lasting the effect of good food is!

And, that is why it is very rightly said that an army marches on its stomach and that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. That also explains why all countries across the world make sure that their soldiers are always fed the most sumptuous food and drink too, at least during peace time. And, when you look back, that also explains why women who cook very well usually do very well in their married lives !

Incidentally, a huge roadside hoarding somewhere between Bengaluru and Maddur, promoting the culinary delights that can be had at a restaurant thereabouts says: "Good Food is Good Mood" which I feel is the absolute truth although I am not much of a foodie, at least these days ! I think one of the most disappointing experiences is when you go to a much hyped restaurant expecting very good food and find the fare served to you there way off the mark. Although I am speaking for myself when I say this, I'm very sure that most people who enjoy eating out will agree with me.

Now, bringing you all back to Namma Mysuru from my food fantasies, we all saw how our civic authorities promoted the virtues of cleanliness which almost re-wrote the axiom and put Godliness in the second place! We were all told to keep the surroundings of our homes clean with perfect waste segregation that would pass the inspection of the eagle-eyed teams that would come visiting, God knows from where. We also saw teams of volunteers wearing smart, specially logoed T-Shirts and matching caps, sweeping the forecourt of our Palace and even the streets so that our newspapers and TV screens could spread the news of what we were doing, far and wide.

All the rank and file of our Corporation employees and hastily roped in extra contract workers too were deputed to places like temples, mosques and churches where people congregated, to get citizens to send messages from their mobile phones that their city was the cleanest and best maintained. But frankly speaking, I never got to understand what this part of the exercise was all about.

I only go to know of it when I overheard our maid telling my wife that she was late one particular day because she had to participate in this very important voting exercise. I also felt a little sheepish when she expressed surprise that we had not been invited to do the honours that she had the privilege of doing !

I suddenly found that the roads of our area which had not seen a broom even once after our Dasara were being swept by platoons of workers walking behind swanky yellow and green tippers into which they were dumping basketfuls of garbage! I do not know how the word got around but a team of Corporation officials even visited my house to see how my home composting unit was doing. They implored me to stand beside it for a photograph but I very politely excused myself saying that I was not dressed smartly enough that day! But I felt very happy when they told me that I was being a model citizen and that they would urge other citizens to follow my example and also bring the Inspectors to my house to see my project. But alas! That did not happen and that is why perhaps Mysuru missed the first place and could make it only to the third place this year!

Looking back a little sadly at the events of the past few weeks, I wonder why our civic officials have to stage this strange and ironic drama year after year just for an award when they have no moral commitment to keep our fast-growing city reasonably clean and our roads free from obstacles and impediments that make our lives miserable. Cleanliness and orderliness too have to be a simple, year-long way of life rather than just a two-week-long drama !

Samathentho to stage 'Sonata' tomorrow

Mysuru, Mar.8 (US)- Samathentho troupe will present a play 'Sonata,' a Kannada translation by Girish Karnad of the original play in Marathi by Mahesh Elakunchavar on Mar.9 at 7 pm at the Mini Theatre in Kalamandira premises here.

Commemorating International Women's Day, the play is directed by Samathentho member and Theatre Artiste Rameshwari Verma.

The story of the play revolves around three middle-aged women characters who were once classmates but now live in different atmospheres but all of them are financially sound.

The three characters are essayed by Indira Nair, Shylaja Rao and Preethi Nagaraj.

The whole play is centred around a meeting of the three characters one evening where everyone of them feels that life has become intolerable. They seem to be eager to confront their past with future to evolve a solution for the present turmoil.

Interestingly, the three characters comprise a Journalist, a Sanskrit Professor and an MNC employee.

'Sonata' basically is one of the best compositions of German Musician Beethoven and a combination of three notes.

Intl. Women's Day

This year's theme 'Balance for Better'

By Dr. H.R. Manikarnika,
Senior Eye Specialist

Every year Mar.8 is celebrated as International Women's Day across the world. This is to remember the sacrifice of garment factory lady workers in New York and to know how women can improve their lives.

Dr. Manikarnika

On Mar.8, 1857 in New York City, the female employees revolted against the management. They were paid less than the male even though they worked equally. They had to work in unhealthy environment and working hours was more than 12 hours. They took out a procession but Police didn't tolerate this and the strike was put off forcibly. This had kindled light to fight for justice. On Mar.8, 1908, more than 1,500 women employees took out a procession and shouted slogans against the management. Their demands included:

i) Justifiable salary, ii) Congenial working environment, iii) 8-hour working hours, iv) To abandon child labour, v) The right to vote.

These revolts were remarkable in promoting women's struggle for equality.

It was Clara Jetken, a Lawyer and German politician who is responsible for Women's Day celebration. She said unless the women's freedom and no gender discrimination, there will be no peace in the world.

In 1910 at Copenhagen International Congress, she called for observing International Women's Day on Mar.8. Her request was universally accepted.

USA started observing International Women's Day from 1975. India observed 1975 as International Women's Year. International Women's Day was observed for two reasons:

1. Without women's active participation there cannot be peace and social justice.

2. To recognise women's contribution for international peace and security.

Position of Women in India

The position of women in India is much better when compared to previous decades among educated and socially forward families but in slum areas, backward sections and among tribals the situation needs a lot of improvement.

Women are overburdened as they have to work in three fields.

1. At Home: All the household work like cooking, washing clothes, cleaning utensils and caring for the children and aged she has to do. These are not paid work but demands a lot of physical work. She is not given any economic freedom.

2. She has to earn: In villages, she has to assist agricultural activities. In cities, she has to go out and work.

3.Reproduction: During adolescence, she will have menstruation and related problems. During womanhood, she has to give birth to children. Pregnancy and delivery related problems are there. After 40-50 years, menopause symptoms may be there and she is prone for reproductive organs related diseases.

Sometimes there will be domestic violence on her and dowry harassment. She will be emotionally tortured. In work place also there will be sexual harassment.

In case of infertility, the woman is blamed. These are some of the social evils.

What is the salvation?

Woman Empowerment: Women must become self- confident, educated and economically independent. Life skills and working skills must be acquired; only a self-directed woman can work better. She requires encouragement, training and opportunities. She can work equal or even better than a man in all the fields.

Women's struggle is not against men. For a cart to move both the wheels must be equal and healthy. If one is under trouble the cart cannot move. So for a healthy society both men and women must enjoy equal freedom and equal resources.

She should have the following freedom

1. Economic freedom

2. Decision-making freedom

3. To get the asset from parents

4. Physical and mental rest

5. Freedom to express her feelings

6. Freedom for movement etc.

Women must shun inferiority complex, develop self-confidence and work well for the family, village, State and thus serve the Nation.

Equal rights for women still a dream: ADC

Mysuru, Mar.8 (MTY&SR)- Additional Deputy Commissioner (ADC) G. Anuradha has regretted that equal rights and opportunities for women still remained a distant dream in the country.

She was speaking at the International Women's Day celebrations organised jointly by District Administration, Zilla Panchayat, Department of Women and Children Welfare at Jaganmohan Palace in city this morning.

Additional Deputy Commissioner G. Anuradha is seen lighting the lamp along with others during the International Women's Day celebrations at Jaganmohan Palace in city this morning.

She said that nation has rapidly developed in many spheres, achieved milestones in the areas of science and technology, but atrocities and domestic violence on women, rape and lack of safety for women at working places, incidents of outraging her modesty still continued in society. Women still are not able to walk freely or fearlessly during night hours in our nation, she bemoaned.

Though the Constitution of India guaranteed equal rights and opportunities for women, discrimination in jobs, wages and salary for women still continued, she said.

Presiding over the programme, MLA L. Nagendra highlighted the contributions of women like Indira Gandhi, Sushma Swaraj, Mayawati, Nirmala Sitharaman apart from the valour of Rani Chennamma, Onake Obavva to protect the land.

"I will wait till last minute for Congress ticket"

Sumalatha worships at city temples

Mysuru, Mar.8 (RKB&DM)- Continuing her temple run ahead of the Lok Sabha (LS) polls, actress Sumalatha, wife of late actor-turned-politician Ambarish, who is seeking a Congress ticket from Mandya, visited Chamundi Hill Temple, Kote Anjaneyaswamy Temple and Ganesha Temple at the Palace North Gate here this morning and offered special prayers to the deities.

Later speaking to press persons, Sumalatha, asserting that she would contest the forthcoming Lok Sabha polls only from Mandya, said that she would wait till the last minute for the ticket from Congress party, which her late husband belonged to.

Maintaining that she had not met any political leaders seeking a ticket, Sumalatha said that, however, anything can happen in politics at any time.

Claiming that she was very cautiously treading the path of politics step by step, she expressed disappointment over the language being used in social media circles to hit out at political leaders.

Calling for careful selection of language in social media, she said that campaigns must not hurt anyone and it was wrong to use derogatory remarks against anyone. Referring to Women's Day, Sumalatha said there is no bigger thing than one's mother and as such all mothers should be treated with respect and taken care of.

No need to learn hospitality lessons from Thammanna, says Sumalatha

Mandya, Mar.8- Even as JD(S) leaders continue to target actress Sumalatha, she continued her tour of the district on Thursday too for eliciting the opinion of Congress leaders and the people ahead of the Lok Sabha polls.

On Thursday, Transport Minister D.C. Thammanna passed taunting remarks against Sumalatha at Maddur, questioning the actress whether she had ever interacted with the people who visited her house when her husband Ambarish was a Minister and an MLA.

"Had she then shown any interest in hearing the problems of people? Has she ever offered them a glass of water? Now taking Ambarish's name, she is talking about developing the district. Nobody is ready to believe her," Thammanna remarked.

Hitting out at his remark, Sumalatha, who was at Malavalli on Thursday, said that Thammanna's family should tell us as to how many times he had visited our house and had food.

"I do not have to say how Thammanna was, when Ambarish was alive. People know about it. Ambarish used to treat guests round-the-clock and I will follow suit. I don't have to learn hospitality lessons from Thammanna," she pointed out and added that people of Mandya are her strength and that she was not bothered about persons like Thammanna.

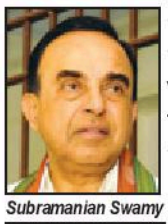
ZP Budget deferred till afternoon

Mysuru, Mar.8 (RK&DM) - The much-anticipated Mysuru Zilla Panchayat (ZP) Budget (2019-20), which was scheduled to be presented at 11 am this morning, turned out to be a disappointment for many as the presentation was deferred till 2 pm due to lack of quorum.

As soon as the ZP convened, ZP President Parimala Shyam on finding that there were only a few ZP members present at the Hall, postponed the Budget presentation by half-an-hour, citing lack of quorum. At least 38 members out of the 49 member Mysuru ZP should be present to fulfil the quorum requirements. But only 32 members were present.

When the ZP re-convened at 11.30 am, the number of ZP members did not touch the required 38, following which ZP President postponed the Budget presentation to Mar.11. But following severe objection from Venkataswamy, a ZP member from H.D. Kote Taluk and a few other fellow members, who maintained that the possible announcement of poll schedule before Mar.11 may come in the way of Budget presentation, the ZP President announced Budget presentation at 2 pm this afternoon. Marking Women's Day, women ZP members celebrated the day by cutting a cake.

Dr. Subramanian Swamy on Ayodhya case



Subramanian Swamy

New Delhi, Mar. 8- Ahead of the Supreme Court's order on whether or not there will be a Court-monitored mediation in the Ayodhya dispute, Republic TV spoke to BJP MP Dr. Subramanian Swamy and asked him whether there could be a resolution in the case before the all-important 2019 Lok Sabha elections.

Here's what he said about what he expects to happen in the Supreme Court, as well as on a pre-election resolution:

"The title holder claimants need eight weeks more to check the translation of documents. During these eight weeks, the Court wants to explore. But my opinion is that it's a waste of time because the land has already been nationalised by the government," he said, sticking to what he had said on Wednesday when he opined that it would be a futile exercise.

He added, that as a result of the parameters he had mentioned - i.e. the government having nationalised the land, "Only my prayer would survive which is that I have a fundamental right to pray there," and consequently, concluded "So Ram Mandir being constructed is certain, it's only a matter of time."

He was then asked, "Do you think we can expect the result before elections?"

To this, he said, "If they take my petition separately and then decide, then yes, it'll be before elections."

Hinkal Flyover: Boon to commuters, bane for businessmen

Mysuru, Mar.8 (RKB&BCT)- Any development work has its pros and cons. While a large number of people are benefited from a particular work, be it a road, underpass or a flyover, a small group of people usually pay the price as they tend to lose their established livelihood — like in the case of the ambitious Hinkal Flyover.

While the Flyover has come as a boon to motorists, the shopkeepers, businessmen and hoteliers operating below the flyover are hit badly as they have lost business and their regular customers. Three months after the flyover opened for traffic, many shopkeepers on its either sides have vacated their outlets while some of them are in the process of vacating.

'SOM' Reality Check

Star of Mysore did a reality check on the Hinkal Flyover in the wake of reports that a Clover Leaf Interchange will be built on Bengaluru-Mysuru Road and Outer Ring Road Junction, near Columbia Asia Hospital that is one of the major traffic bottlenecks in the city. The reality check was aimed at gauging the usefulness and utilisation of the Hinkal Flyover where our reporter went nosing around the area to elicit public opinion. And here is what our reporter found out:

The Flyover, Mysuru's first, was inaugurated on Dec. 23, 2018 and was constructed by Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) on a crucial road that links Mysuru to Kodagu via Hunsur. The total expenditure of the completion of the works is Rs. 23.5 crore. The flyover begins from Hinkal Tent till Grand Maurya Hotel.

Ruined businesses

Speaking to SOM yesterday, many shopkeepers, small-time vendors and hoteliers said that the flyover has ruined their lives. "We have taken loans to build our shops and establish our business. What we are managing now is to pay the loan interest and we have no way to clear the principal loan amount," they said.

A view of the Hinkal Flyover on Mysuru-Hunsur Road yesterday.

Kushalappa, who runs Nisarga Darshini Hotel on the road, said that the flyover has doomed his business. "When the project was launched, they told us the project will be completed within 8 months. But they took three years to complete the project. All these days we were living amidst dust, muck and bad smell. We hoped that business will pick up after the flyover opens but it is not the case," he said.

Shops closed down

Already at least 15 shops have closed down due to lack of business and many more shops will close down in coming days. "Hinkal Junction was a commercial hub and this flyover has changed equations. Earlier we had roaring business and even small spaces were in great demand. Now, it is just opposite with no business," said Manjunath, a plywood trader on the road.

The worst affected are small businesses and footpath vendors. As per plan, the footpaths on both sides of the road had to be levelled and widened for the vehicles to park. But MUDA has not widened the road and no one stops here, allege the shop-keepers.

Krishna, a tyre shop owner

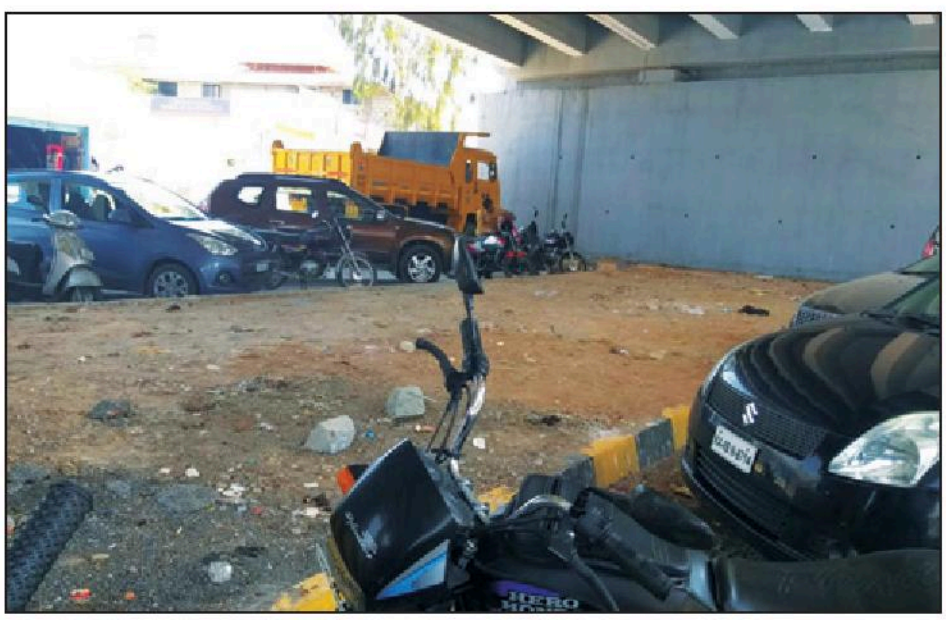
worries that if the same situation continued, most of the shopkeepers will leave the place. "While businesses are hit hard, even the shop owners who have given their outlets on rent and landlords are losing out on revenue," he said.

Commuters happy

If this is the case of businessmen, commuters are happy that the flyover has put a permanent full stop for unending traffic jams on the busy Hunsur Road stretch. "Vehicles including buses cross over smoothly now and earlier this was not the case," said Ankegowda, a senior citizen. But he too conceded that the business atmosphere has been lost. He recalled that people used to come to Hinkal Junction from faraway places to buy certain things that were only available here.

"Earlier, there were massive traffic jams with buses, cars and two-wheelers jostling for space. Now, we can just zoom on this road," said Karthik, who commutes daily on his bike from Yelwal to his college in Vijayanagar.

Adding to the woes of businessmen, there is no designated place to park their vehicles. "We were told that once the flyover is built, parking will be allowed below. But if we park our vehicles there, Police either tow them away or impose fine. We are tired of running to Police Stations to recover our vehicles," another shop-keeper added.



Vehicles parked under the Flyover in Hinkal. Traders allege that there is no designated place for parking and they are harassed by Traffic Police.

Many businessmen have closed down their outlets on both sides of the Hinkal Flyover as the business failed to pick up.
